It's Over! 😞

The winner of 2014 Inter-city Open Team — Geely Automobile

Farewell Message from the Organising Committee Chairman

The Inter-city is coming to a close. I wish to take this opportunity to thank you all for coming and supporting this event. I hope you all have enjoyed it. For those who have missed out on some of the tournaments, I wish to apologise for the inconvenience that we have caused. For those who have taken part, I must apologise for the tightness of the venue. The turn out this year caught us by surprise and unfortunately I was a bit ill prepared for it.

For our visitors, I wish you a safe journey home. Hope to see you all some place, some where at the bridge table.

Anthony Ching

Messages from the Editors

That's it for another year – it seems like only yesterday when I arrived for a far-too short stay in Hong Kong. Let's hope that we all meet up again next year at this excellent tournament.

On behalf of all the players, may I take this opportunity to thank all those involved in the organisation of the tournament, not just the tournament directors, but the office staff and all those who have worked behind the scenes to make for such a successful week. And, never forget, the organisation of an event of this size starts long before the tournament itself.

Let's also thank the hotel staff for their help in making our stay here at the Regal Hotel so pleasant and, finally, may I thank you, the players, for playing in such a friendly and ethical manner. I love coming to tournaments in the APBF region because the atmosphere is so much more relaxed and friendly than anything that can be found in Europe or North America.

Until next year, farewell and have a safe journey home.

Open Teams Final – Geely Automobile v Ping An.

The final of the Hong Kong Inter-City Open Teams Championship featured Ping An (Shenzhen) and Geely Automobile (Changqing/Hong Kong/Shanghai), both of whom had come through their semi-final matches in some comfort. The final would be played over 3 x 16-board sets.

Set One

With two Wangs playing against each in this set, they will be referred to in the text as Rui (Geely Auto) and Hanlan (Ping An). The match started very badly for the two East/West pairs.

One can have sympathy with Xinli Gang. Yafu Lin found a very good time to open 4♥ on an off-centre hand and Gang could hardly not overcall. Hanlan Wang was delighted to double, ending the auction. He led his heart to the ace and Gang, knowing that ruffes were coming, threw the king in hope of getting a misdefence. Lin switched to the eight of clubs to Hanlan's ace and back came a low club to the nine, ten and ruff. Gang led the jack of diamonds from hand, Hanlan winning the queen to return a low trump to dummy's jack. Gang threw a diamond on the king of clubs and his last diamond on a low club, ruffed by Hanlan, who returned a trump. Gang won that and led a heart to the ten and queen and Lin played the ace of diamonds. Gang had clearly lost track of what was happening because he discarded his last heart on this trick and still had the king of spades to come. Had he ruffed and led a heart to dummy's jack, he would have made one more trick. As it was, the contract was four down for –800.

I find difficulty in feeling any sympathy for Shi, in the other room. Holding jack-doubleton spade, why on earth did he feel the need to run to 3♣ when Dai doubled Li's twice bid suit? Gui doubled 3♣ and led the six of diamonds to Dai's nine. Dai switched to his heart so Gui won the ace and gave him a ruff, won the diamond return and gave a second ruff. Dai played the king of diamonds now, ruffed by Shi, who led a club to the queen and ace. There was still a lose rin each black suit to come so this contract too was down four for –800 – just another dull push board!

We didn't have to wait long for the first major swing of the match.

Dai opened 1♣ and Shi overcalled INT rather than double, as would many players. Gui led the nine of clubs to his partner's king and Dai switched to a low spade, Shi playing the queen. He played the king of hearts, which Gui won to return a club. Dai won that and cashed the king of spades to clarify the situation for his partner before clearing the clubs. That gave Shi nine tricks for +150.

At the other table, Hanlan opened INT and was doubled. When that came back around to him he redoubled. What that was supposed to suggest to his partner is unclear, but Lin passed and Gang too was willing to try his luck so passed. Rui cashed the ace of diamonds, getting an encouraging three from partner, but switched to the king of hearts, ducked, before reverting to diamonds, leading low to Gang's queen. Gang cleared the hearts and all Hanlan could do was to cash his five winners; down two for -600 and 10 IMPs to Geely Auto.

The lead changed hands on the very next deal.

Shi/Li had a two-over-one auction in which Shi bid and rebid spades then introduced the weak four-card heart suit as a way of describing his distribution, with no intention ever to play a heart contract. That was all Li wanted to hear and he simply jumped to 6NT, which looks a little premature, even facing a limited Precision-style opening. Li won the spade lead and crossed to the king of diamonds, taking the heart finesse for the overtrick. When that lost, he claimed twelve tricks for +1440.

Rui/Gang also had a two-over-one auction, but Rui's third bid was a jump to 4♠, stressing the quality of the spades. Gang asked for key cards then for the queen of trumps, Rui showing one key card, the spade queen and diamond king. Gang bid 6♥ as a grand slam try then change his mind and jumped to 7NT over Rui's sign-off. There were twelve tricks and no more, with whichever finesse declarer chose to take for the thirteenth doomed to failure; down one and -100 for 17 IMPs to Ping An.

Seven Spades would have been makeable, if declarer judges to take the ruffing club finesse rather than either simple finesse, but the five-one trump split means that he cannot afford the alternative line of trying to ruff out the club king.

Geely Auto pulled back 6 IMPs on the next board when Gui/Dai played 4♠ doubled down one for -200 against 4♥ just making for +420 in the other room. Board 6 was a flat game, then we were back to the action.

There was some over-imaginative bidding on this deal. First Gui, who made a pre-emptive raise to 3♣ then bid again facing a partner who had still not promised a genuine club suit. Gui was correct in one sense, in that the opposing 4♠ contract was making. However, justice was done when the penalty far-outweighed the score for 4♠ just making. Shi found the best lead of the jack of clubs against 5♣ doubled, and Li ducked to Dai's king. Dai returned the ten of clubs, in the unlikely hope that the suit might be splitting two-two. Li won and cashed the third trump then switched to his heart for the ten and jack. Shi returned the queen of spades, which Dai ruffed to lead a second heart up. When Li showed out, he ducked to Shi's eight and back came the jack of spades. Dai won the ace, pitching a heart from the dummy, and tried the jack of diamonds from hand. Shi won that and there were two more diamonds to come for down five and -1400.

Hanlan opened INT and Lin transferred to hearts, and interesting shot but one which was to come back and bite him rather severely as the auction progressed. Hanlan was happy to compete in hearts after Gang's spade overcall and Rui doubled to show values and spade tolerance. When Gang jumped to 4♠, Lin could not resist introducing his actual suit. We have seen what happens to 5♣, but Hanlan, of course, converted to 5♠, which was doubled, of course, by Rui, who led the queen of spades. I doubt that Hanlan was very impressed by the sight of dummy. He ruffed the spade lead to play a club up, Gang winning the ace to push a heart through, the queen losing to the king. Hanlan ruffed the spade return and led a club to his ten, ruffed. Rui could not play a trump without giving up a trick in the suit so exited with the three of spades and dummy got a third ruff. There were two diamonds and heart to be lost and North/South could not have imagined that their result of down four for -1100 would be worth 7 IMPs to their cause.

Another 7 IMPs went the way of Ping An on Board 8, when Hanlan/Lin bid to a thin game that was not reached at the other table, scoring +460 against +170.

For the second time in the set, Lin tried a four-level opening. This one bought the contract, but there was no hope of making ten tricks. Gang led the king of hearts and continued with a low heart, ruffed. Lin cashed the ace of spades then switched to the king of diamonds, which was ducked. He led a second diamond to the queen and ace and back came a heart, which he ruffed. Now he cashed the king of spades before playing a club up. The king of clubs was the seventh trick but there was no time to set up a second club winner; down three for -150.

Still, that looked as though it might be a good result for N/S as E/W appeared to have good chances in 4♥, which was duly reached in the other room after a 1♠ opening and Michaels Cuebid. Gui cashed the ace of spades and switched to a club. Shi called for the queen but that lost and a spade came back, forcing dummy to ruff. Shi played the king then queen of hearts and, on seeing the four-one split, switched his attention to diamonds, leading the jack to the queen and ace then playing a second diamond. But Gui could win that and force dummy again with a spade and that created a trump trick for Dai; down one for -100 and 6 IMPs to Geely Auto.

Four Hearts could have been made. Declarer must not take the club finesse at trick two. If he sees the danger of a four-one trump split he can guard against the force by rising with the ace and playing on diamonds, coming to five hearts, four diamonds and one club. But, of course, if the hearts are four-one, South's holding will usually include the jack, and now there is a heart loser, meaning that declarer cannot afford to lose a club trick.

Shi passed a dealer and the Ping An East/West pair now had an uncontested auction to the excellent spade game. After a trump lead, Li won and drew trumps then played for the club ace to be onside and had twelve tricks for +480. He might have made twelve tricks irrespective of the club position had he won the trump lead in hand and taken a heart ruff, come back to hand with a diamond and drawn trumps.

Rui opened the borderline West hand and now it became convenient for Hanlan to double to show the two unbid suits. Gang showed extra values with his double of 2♥, then bid the no trump game at his next turn. Imagining that 3NT would be cold for his opponents, Lin now chose to save in 4♥ due to his holding a five-card suit facing a hand that had promised hearts. Gang wasted no time in doubling 4♥, ending the auction. He led the king of spades, which Rui overtook, returning the nien. Gang cashed the third spade then played the queen of hearts, drawing a round of trumps while retaining two heart winners. Lin won the king and played a diamond, which Rui won with the queen. The diamond return was ruffed and the ace of clubs cashed. Next came the queen of clubs to the king and ruff, a diamond ruff and the jack of clubs. Gang could ruff and cash the ace of hearts, but declarer had the rest for down three and -800; 8 IMPs to Geely Auto.

Shi passed the West hand then raised the 1♥ opening to game. Dai led ace and another spade so Li drew trumps and passed the ten of clubs to South's queen; eleven tricks and +450.

Rui opened the West hand with 1♦, made a simple heart raise, then showed the club shortage in response to the 2NT inquiry. That was all Gang wanted to hear and he jumped to the small slam, against which Hanlan led a trump. I am sure I would have gone down in this contract, so Gang did fantastically well to bring it home. He won the trump lead and cashed a second round, discovering the three-one break. Next he led dummy's ten of clubs and, I would have thought, the best chance for success would be to run it, but no, he rose with the ace and played king and another, bringing down the queen. That still left the spades to bring in for one loser. With the diamond distribution unknown, the only clue was that South held six cards between clubs and hearts, so North held five cards. That made it marginally more likely that South had the spade shortage, so Gang overtook the queen of hearts, drawing the outstanding trump in the process, cashed his club winners and led a spade to the queen then ducked a spade on the way back. The fall of the doubleton ace meant that he had twelve tricks for +980 and 11 IMPs to Geely Auto.

Just a san aside, had South held ♠J-10 and North ♠A-x-x-x, North would have had to duck the queen of spades in tempo. If he wins the ace declarer has no choice but to lay down the king and drop the remaining honour in the South hand. If North ducks, declarer will probably lead a spade back and duck it, playing on restricted choice lines and hoping for ace-honour doubleton with South.

At the end of a lively set, Geely Automobile held a useful lead of 53-31 IMPs.

Set Two

Ping An trailed Geely Automobile by 31-53 IMPs at the end of the first session. The deficit was not yet serious, but it was important that they did not go further behind in session two. Geely Auto picked up an IMP on Board 17, then came this lively deal:

Both Easts opened with a Precision-style 2♣ but one South scraped up a take-out double while the other did not.

Where Yang doubled, Li raised pre-emptively to 5♣ and Shi went on to 6♣ over Gui's free 5♥ bid. Yang passed 6♣ round to Gui, who doubled. Yang cashed the ace of hearts, collecting a suit-preference three from Gui. Three rounds of diamonds followed, then Yang exited with a spade for the queen and ace. There was still a spade to come so the contract was four down for -800.

Where Hanlan passed over 2♣, Rui made an invitational club raise and Lin overcalled. Hanlan cuebid 4♣ then raised to slam when his partner bid 5♥ freely in front of him. A lot of IMPs hung on Gang's choice of opening lead. Had he cashed the ace of spades, Rui would have encouraged and a second spade would have led to down one, -100 and 14 IMPs to Geely Auto. But Gang did not know of his partner's exceptional club length and tried a top club. Lin ruffed, cashed the ace of hearts, and found that the diamonds were as kind as kind could be; +1430 and 12 IMPs to Ping An.

I'd like to tell you what the Hanlan/Lin auction meant but I would be guessing. One Club was strong and 1NT showed a balanced positive. After that, I'm not so sure. What I do know is that they comprehensively outbid the natural auction from the other table, where Gui's decision not to raise clubs because half his points were in the fourth suit worked out terribly.

Six Clubs was an easy make, with just the trump ace to be lost; +1370. Three No Trump was just as easy to defeat, once Shi had led a low diamond. Li could win the ace of clubs and push the diamond ten through and that was a quick one down for -100 and 16 IMPs to Ping An, who had the lead at 59-53.

That lead didn't last for long.

Both Norths made the normal opening bid of 4♠ in third seat. Gang took the normal action of doubling and Rui the equally normal action of leaving it in to see how much money would come their way. Gang cashed the top clubs, Rui pitching a heart, then tried the ace of diamonds, ruffed. Lin played the king of hearts to the ace and could not be prevented from ruffing a heart in the dummy. That also meant that he could lead a round of trumps through Rui's holding and there was just one trump loser; down two for -500.

You can all choose your favourite adjective to describe Shi's 6♣ overcall at the other table. For now, let's settle for wild. Yang doubled and that was that. He led a spade to the queen and king, ruffed. Shi played ace, king and nine of clubs. Yang won the queen and led his remaining spade to the three, four and ruff. Shi drew trumps and played ace then a low diamond, Yang taking the king and returning the four of hearts to the queen, king and ace. Gui had to come to a spade and a heart now for down three and -800; 16 IMPs to Geely Auto, who had regained the lead at 70-59.

Gui opened at the one level and Shi overcalled INT. When Yang made a simple spade raise, Li used Lebensohl, intending to compete in diamonds, and Gui jumped to the spade game. There were two clubs and a heart to be lost after Shi's lead of the king of hearts, but the bidding had taken all of the guesswork out of the play and Gui took the trump finesse and soon had ten tricks for +420.

Lin opened at the four level – a bit scary maybe with such a poor suit, but 4♠ is certainly the bid to put your opponents under pressure. Gang doubled for take-out and Rui responded 5♦. Now Lin doubled to show a decent hand with good defence for a 4♠ opening but, with such good spade support, Hanlan can hardly be blamed for removing to 5♠. As it happens, 5♦ is one down, but so was 5♠ doubled. Gang cashed the king of clubs then switched to the heart king. Lin won and took the spade finesse but there was no way to avoid two more losers; down one for –100 and 11 IMPs to Geely Auto, up now by 81-59.

Ping An moved closer with medium-sized swings on Boards 26 and 27; 68-81. Then it was time for somebody to go for another penalty.

Lin could open in a four-card major and that got a Bergen raise from Hanlan. Though he had nothing to spare for his opening, Lin hoped that the spade void would be good news, so went on to game. Gang led his singleton club. Lin rose with dummy's ace and returned the club ten. Rui won that and tried the king of diamonds. Lin won the ace, ruffed a club and led a diamond up, Rui ruffing. That did Lin no harm, of course. When Rui returned the low spade, he had the rest for +650.

At the other table, Gui had to open 1♦ and Yang responded 1♥. I don't understand why Li would want to overcall in the weak spade suit rather than show both his suits but maybe there is some systemic consideration of which I am unaware. Anyway, Gui raised very aggressively to 4♥ and that bullied Shi into bidding 4♠, doubled by Yang. Gui led a club to Yang's ace and Yang switched to a heart for the king and ace. Gui played queen and a third heart, ruffed, and Li led a spade to the ten and ace. After a diamond to the king and ace, Gui returned a club, won in hand with the jack. What Li needed to do now was to ruff his low club with the king then play the spade queen and the four to his eight, making the rest. But instead he played the club king, discarding a diamond from dummy, and that gave Yang a ruff for the third undertrick and, instead of 4 IMPs to Ping An, –800 meant 4 IMPs to Geely Auto; up by 85-68.

Gang did not open the East hand so it was Hanlan, South, who opened 1♠. Playing strong club, Lin saw no reason to respond, and Gang had even less reason to balance. Rui led the six of diamonds to the jack, queen and ace. Hanlan led the nine of spades round to Gang's queen, and back came king and another club, Hanlan pitching a heart. Rui won the ace of clubs and went back to diamonds, Hanlan winning the king and leading a heart to the jack and king. Rui returned a diamond to the ten and ruffed, creating an extra trump trick for gang. However, Hanlan had two more trump winners and Gang's heart length meant that he could cash two tricks there also; just made for +80.

Shi did open the East hand and Yang overcalled. When Gui made a weak raise to 3♥, Yang went on to game. Li led the singleton spade against 4♥. Shi won the ace and switched to the king of clubs and another club. Yang ruffed and led a low heart towards dummy's queen. Li went in with the king and returned his remaining trump but now Yang could win in dummy, lead a low spade to the jack and ruff a spade. A diamond to the ace was followed by two rounds of trumps and Shi was squeezed. Yang had no problem in reading the ending given Shi's opening bid, so made ten tricks for +420 and 8 IMPs to Geely Auto.

Hanlan passed as South so Rui got to open 1♠ and Lin overcalled 4♥. Gang had to bid 4♠ now and Hanlan doubled, ending the auction. Lin cashed two top hearts then switched to the five of clubs to his partner's ace. Hanlan returned the suit to the jack, queen and ruff, and Rui played the jack of spades to the queen and king. A diamond to the jack was followed by the five of spades to the six and eight, and declarer had no way back to dummy to pick up the nine of spades. Rui played the queen of diamonds so Hanlan could ruff and cash the spade ace for down two and -300.

Yang opened the South hand and Li overcalled. When Gui bid his hearts and Shi jumped to 4♠, Yang doubled for penalty, but this was taken as extra values and Gui went on to 5♥, where he played. Shi led the seven of clubs, ducked to the king, and Li returned the club jack for a ruff. Shi cashed the ace of diamonds but that was all for the defence; down one for -100 and 9 IMPs to Ping An.

Rui opened 1♥ and, after the weak jump overcall from North, Gang committed to hearts with a support-showing cuebid. Lin led the singleton club to the ten and king and rose with the ace when Rui played a low heart at trick two. A low spade went to the jack and ace and Rui led a heart to the queen and king, won the club return in hand and played a spade to the king.

A heart to the jack was next, Hanlan discarding a club, and, after cashing one more heart, Rui played a club to the ace and another club to endplay Hanlan to lead away from the king of diamonds to give the contract; +620. It would have done no good for Hanlan to throw a diamond instead of a club. Rui would then have cashed the last trump, squeezing him again, and then played ace and another club. In the other room, Shi judged not to commit to hearts, preferring to make a negative double and, when Li showed an independent spade stopper in a balanced hand, raised to the no trump game. Knowing that spades were well held by his opponents, Gui tried the effect of a low diamond lead, ducked to the king. Yang returned the ten of diamonds to Li's queen and Li led a heart, running the nine to Yang's ten. That looks an odd play – why play North for the heart length when he has already shown up with six spades and at least three diamonds? Yang cleared the diamonds now so when Gui got in with the ace of hearts he had the diamond jack to cash, and there was still a third heart to be lost; down one for -100 and 12 IMPs to Geely Automobile. They led by 105-77 after two sets. There were sixteen boards left to play.

Geely Automobile also won the third set and were the 2014 Hong Kong Inter-city Open Team Champions, defeating Ping An by 159-117 IMPs in the final.
